

INT150

Web Technology

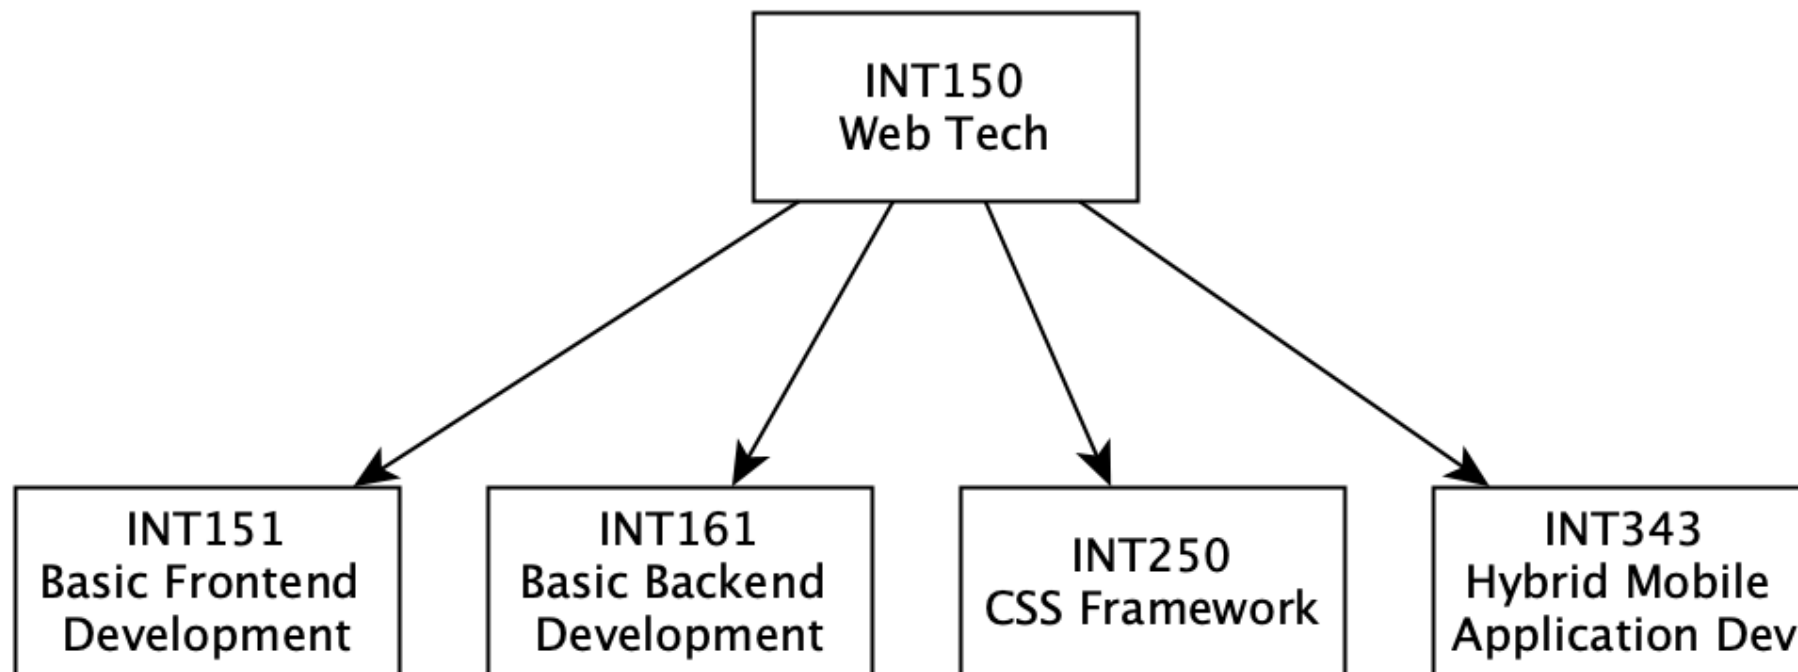

2/2025

Aj. Sanit Sirisawatvatana

Learning Outcomes

- Design and implement a simple web site that organizes information effectively, use valid HTML and CSS.
- Layout the components of website using Flex and Grid.
- Use the support tools for website creating and web management.
- Create a web site that renders well on a variety of devices and window or screen sizes.

Dependent Couses

Course Information

Course INT150 Web Technology

Credit 3

Lecturer Aj. Sanit Sirisawatvatana

Email sanit@sit.kmutt.ac.th

Lecture & Lab G1 Wednesday (13.30-17.20), LX 11/3-4
G2 Friday (13.30-17.20), LX 10/3-4

Textbook Learning Web Design A Beginner's Guide To HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and Web Graphics, 5th edition, Jennifer Niederst Robbins, O'Reilly, May 2018, ISBN 978-1-491960202

Course Outline

Week#	Topic
1	Review How The Web Works HyperText Markup Language (HTML)
2	Marking Up Text/Adding Links
3	Adding Images/Table Markup
4	Forms/Embedded Media
5	Reviews
6	Exam #1
7	Introduction Cascading Style Sheets/Formatting Text
8	Colors and Backgrounds

Course Outline

Week#	Topic
9	CSS Box Model/Floating and Positioning
10	CSS Layout with Flexbox
11	CSS Layout with Grid/Review
12	Exam #2
13	Responsive Web Design
14	Transitions, Transforms and Animation
15	More CSS Techniques
16	Introduction to JavaScript/Using JavaScript/Review
17	Class Project Presentation
18	Exam #3

Class Evaluation

Attendance

5%

Quizzes

5%

Test (3*25)

75%

Class Labs

5%

Individual Project

10%

Attendance Policy

- Attendance points are awarded for on-site attendance only.
- Leave requests or absence forms are not required. Student may be absent up to two times without any deduction of attendance points.
- If a student is absent more than twice, the third missed attendance check and any subsequent ones will receive a point of 0.
- Each attendance check recorded in the system has 1 point.
- Students who arrive more than 30 minutes late will be considered late and will receive 0.8 points for that session.
- In the case of make-up classes or when the faculty announces special circumstances (such as PM 0.5 air pollution issues), attendance will not be taken.